

Minor in Business Law and Economics - Contracts

Description

The Minor concept

A minor gives you the opportunity of having a second specialization in your degree. The minor is a bundle of three to four electives that can be chosen separately but if chosen together rewards a minor.

Purpose

International minor in "Business Law and Economics - Contracts"

This minor presents a unique combination of contractual theory for the contract managers in all industries and the public sector. The minor provides the students with knowledge in regard to contracts in both a legal and an economic perspective. Contracts are the foundation of all trade, development and collaboration. Through this minor, the students will be able to identify business solutions, possibilities and obstacles arising from the contract law and negotiation of contracts. Students with a minor degree in business law and economics – Contracts from CBS will contribute to the company or public authority with a significant insight on how to negotiate efficient national or international contracts from a market perspective.

The minor in Business Law and Economics – Contracts provides a 30 ECTS-semester at CBS jointly with the students at the Master of Science in business administration and commercial law program. The minor has a specific focus on strategy, contract law, negotiation and the value chain in the industry. Contracts are the core instrument in regard to the business strategy. Contracts are formed differently in different places in the value chain. Negotiating the contract implements the business strategy and by combining strategy, negotiation, law and value chain theory, the final contract will be a driver for the business strategy. The minor provides a unique perspective on legal possibilities and barriers in regard to the strategy in the company and enables the students to solve legal and strategic problems from a theoretical and practical perspective.
